

BakırBul

Wholesale Copper Catalogue

Handmade copper kitchen and decorative products from Kahramanmaraş, Turkey. Cookware, drinkware, serving, storage and decorative pieces — one range, one specification, one quality control.

Who we are

BakırBul is a copper house based in Kahramanmaraş, one of Turkey's traditional copper centres. We also source from the other Turkish copper regions — mainly Erzincan and Gaziantep — depending on the piece.

How our products are made

We work through a long-term production partnership rather than owning the production ourselves. We specify the piece — form, dimensions, sheet gauge, hammering, finish and tinning — our partner produces it, and we carry it under our own name. For some items we work with additional workshops that specialise in a particular technique.

We work with more than one partner workshop, each strong in a different technique. That is why the range in this catalogue is not built around a single product family: cookware, drinkware, serving, storage and decorative pieces all come through the same partnership, under one specification and one quality control. A buyer who needs pots, cups, trays and candle holders in the same shipment does not have to source them from four different suppliers.

Everything in this catalogue is hand work. Two pieces of the same model are close, never identical — that is the nature of hand-raised copper, not a defect.

Quality control

Quality control is done by us, personally. We check the quality of the copper, the sheet thickness and the weight of the piece. Thickness and weight are where a copper item is quietly cheapened — a piece can look identical and be twenty per cent lighter — so those are the first two figures measured, and every stage passes through our own control before an order is released. If you work to your own tolerances on gauge or weight, send them and we will check against your figures rather than ours.

Tinning. Food-contact surfaces are tinned by hand. We do not leave a food-contact surface untinned — not on catalogue items and not on custom work.

Working with us

Reading this catalogue

Every line is a separate item with its own code. The last digit of the code is the finish, so the same shape can be ordered in five finishes. Quote the full code when you send your order list.

-1 Red copper	-2 Nickel	-3 Oxidised	-4 Brushed	-6 Tinned

Prices

This edition carries the range, the codes and the technical data, but no prices. Copper moves with the metal market and with the exchange rate, so a printed figure is out of date within weeks — and the price also depends on the quantity per model and the finish you choose.

Send us the codes and the quantity per code and we come back with a firm quotation in EUR or USD, EXW Kahramanmaraş, valid for a stated period. It is the same list, quoted against your order.

Quantities, lead time and private label

We do not publish a fixed minimum order quantity — send the models and the quantity per model and we will tell you what is workable. Lead time depends on the model and the quantity, and we give a date against your actual list rather than a general figure. We apply customer branding on bulk orders from 100 pieces per model upwards.

The catalogue is not the limit. Where the quantity justifies it we have new tooling made and produce a model that is not in this range. Two limits we state up front: we do not copy another company's registered design, and we do not leave a food-contact surface untinned.

Shipping, and two things to know

Shipping and documents

We do not have a contracted freight forwarder. Most buyers arrange their own transport, which usually gives them a better rate. If you prefer, we can prepare the Turkish-side export documentation as a paid service. The customs declaration in the destination country stays on your side, since only a party established there can file it.

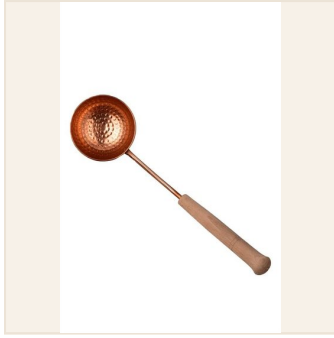

Before you order

Two points below cost nothing to raise now and a great deal to discover later. We would rather lose an order than have one come back.

Induction. Copper is not ferromagnetic, so copper cookware does not work on an induction hob. An interface disc works but adds cost and changes the feel of the piece. For induction kitchens we would rather position copper for serving and presentation. We raise this before the order, not after.

Food-contact documentation. We do not currently hold a published food-contact or laboratory test report. If your market requires one, tell us at the start — testing can be arranged, but it needs to be planned into the timeline and costed.

Extended range

The models on the following pages are part of our range but are not in the priced section of this catalogue. They are produced to order, and the price depends on the quantity and the finish you need — so we quote them against your list rather than printing a figure that would be wrong by the time you read it.

Everything else is the same: the same partnership, the same specification, the same quality control, the same finish codes. Send us the codes and the quantity per code and we come back with a price.
